Miracles from Agriculture

Color or b/w - 13-1/2 minutes

Farming and ranching, marketing, storing, transporting, processing, merchandising--important links in the vast and fascinating chain which brings food in many forms to the tables of over 190 million Americans every day. MIRACLES FROM AGRICULTURE, a brilliant documentary, follows these steps, emphasizing the vital role of research. . . research designed to keep a strong nation strong. This film is especially appropriate for showing during Farm-City Week., Nov. 22-28.

A Tree Grows for Christmas

B/W - 10-3/4 or 7 minute versions

This Christmas the whole family will want to see how Christmas trees came to America, and how an industry grows, cuts and transports millions of evergreens into American homes each year. The story includes important tips for handling trees safely in the home and preserving their cut life over the holiday season.

Selecting Your Christmas Tree

B/W - 7 minutes

From Pine and Spruce to Cedar and Fir, this exciting motion picture shows the many varieties of Christmas trees marketed each year. Further, homemakers will learn valuable tips for increasing the cut life of their trees throughout the holiday season.

The Family Forest

Color - 12-1/4 minutes

A documentary film of the ceremonies held on Stockton Farm near Phoenix, Maryland, to honor the first privately-owned woodland in the Nation officially designated as "Family Forest." The good management procedures used in this farm woodland help the economy of the State and Nation by conserving natural resources.

A Sharing of Experience

B/W - 8 minutes

A group of visitors from 27 countries see how rural people in the southeastern states are rebuilding their economy with new factories, recreation areas, public facilities, and improved farming methods. This sharing of experience is climaxed with an RAD meeting, barbecue and hootenanny.

300

Films described in this circular are but five of the 300 public service films available from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Most films are in black and white; about half are also in color. Screening times vary from 10 seconds to 31 minutes; most from five to fifteen minutes.

A new edition of our USDA TV Film catalog was recently sent to all stations. If you did not receive one, check the box on reverse side.

There is no charge for borrowing USDA motion pictures. To insure prompt service, make your film selections early and return prints as soon as possible.
